

Received order for construction of high-speed test course in Thailand

Thai Nippon Road Co., Ltd., an overseas subsidiary of NIPPON ROAD, has received an order for construction of a high-speed test course at the Automotive and Tyre Testing, Research and Innovation Center (ATTRIC) being built by the Thai Industrial Standards Institute (TISI) in Thailand. The high-speed test course to be constructed is a large four kilometers test course with two kilometers of parabolic pavement, and will be the first test course in Thailand to have a full-scale bank.

ATTRIC is a facility for the certification of automotive products within the ASEAN region, and since 2018, Thai Nippon Road has constructed a test track for measuring ISO noise emissions, a four lane special course, and a connecting bridge at the test course.

The NIPPON ROAD Group will continue to contribute to the development of local infrastructure by combining the 35 years of experience it has accumulated in Thailand with NIPPON ROAD's advanced technologies.

